The Honorable Donald J. Trump
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President,

We are writing to offer our support in mitigating the economic impact of the Coronavirus crisis, in whatever form as may be appropriate. We applaud and support the efforts of Congress and the Administration to take dramatic measures to assist businesses in maintaining stable employment during this crisis.

Businesses of all sizes may face extreme difficulties in continuing to operate over the coming weeks. Many have already been forced to close. Even larger employers are noting immediate liquidity challenges given dramatic reductions in revenue. All are concerned that employees may experience severe hardships if their work schedules and pay are disrupted.

ADP is prepared to assist the federal government with any plan to offer payments to our clients or their employees as part of any stimulus package. ADP serves nearly 700,000 U.S. employers in paying 26 million U.S. employees, including businesses of all sizes, so we are well positioned to help a substantial percentage of our nation's work force. ADP has substantial expertise and technology resources, as well as established financial relationships with our clients, financial institutions and employees.

Sincerely,

Carlos Rodriguez
President and Chief Executive Officer
